NEWARK, OHIO, SATURDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 26, 1921

WAR CLOUDS ARE GATHERING OVER LATIN-AMERICA

Costa Rica and Panama
Have Begun Hostilities,
It Is Reported.

Dispute Over Land Seized
By Costa Rica Causes Trouble.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Immediate returns of several thousand rifles seized in 1916 by the American authorities in the Panama Canal Zone is asked by the government of Panama, which desires to use them in repelling the reported invasion of Panama by Costa Ricans.

Panama, Feb. 26.—Hostilities have begun between Panama and Costa Rica in the vicinity of Coto, on the Pacific side of the frontier between the two countries, it is said, in unofficial advices received here. Official confirmation of these reports, however, is lacking. Formal declaration of a war has not been made up until last night.

More than 2,000 men enrolled for military service here yesterday and reports from other parts of the republic told of citizens volunteering for the army. Two hundred men left the city yesterday afternoon for the Costa Rican frontier, and it is believed the Panama forces near Coto are enroute to that place number about 500. These consist of national police and volunteers from Panama city and Chiriqui province.

The base of Panama operations will be in the small town of Progreso, near Golfo de Dulce, which is connected by narrow gauge railroad with a small port constructed by the Panama Sugar company. The town of Progreso is also the property of the same corporation.

The Panama Canal zone administration and the United States legislation here has not received instructions from Washington. A conference was to be held this afternoon between President Porras, William Jennings Price, United States minister, and Colonel Jay Morrow, acting canal governor, but it was postponed until Monday.

While the president has been proceeding under his constitutional powers in mobilizing the Panama forces, the authority to declare war rests with the national assembly, which has not as yet acted. A general exodus of Costa Ricans from Panama is taking place, while many Panamanians who are in Costa Rica are trying to reach Panama.

An interesting phase of the situation results from Costa Rica occupying territory under the arbitration decision of Chief Justice White of the United States court, which was handed down in 1914, while the United States herself has by virtue of treaties guaranteed the territorial integrity of this country. The Panama government claims however, that Justice White's decision contained a clause to the effect that if his award should not be accepted by both parties, the territorial status would revert to the conditions laid down by the decision rendered by President Loubet of France. It is under the Loubet decision that Panama claims the land that Costa Rica has seized.

It is known that the Sinclair Oil interests have been conducting drilling operations in the same general locality where concessions have been granted a British corporation by the Costa Rican government.

HOT COMPETITION IN WORLD SHIPPING

Federal Reserve Board
Finds Surplus of Ocean
Vessels and Rates Are Cut.

Washington, Feb. 26.—A period of intense competition in world shipping is foreseen today by the Federal Reserve board in a survey of foreign and domestic shipping conditions. As a result of overproduction the board said, there probably will be for a time an excess of ships above the immediate needs of commerce.

Shipping interests already are realizing, the board declared, that production of shipping has been in excess of present needs. Repairs are coming from abroad, the board said, of cancellations of ship building contracts on a considerable scale in several countries.

"This would indicate," the board states, "that for the time being at least, the peak of ship building in foreign countries as well as in the United States has passed."

Discussing the shipping situation among the various foreign nations, the board declared that the expansion of the ship building industry in Great Britain since the war "seems to have taken hold of the imagination of the other nations of the world."

Japan, which was hardly a factor before the war, the board said, is now in the front rank as a ship builder, while Holland which always has been a ship building nation is turning out tonnage faster than ever before. France has turned from the production of war munitions, the board asserted, to building ships, and Italy has likewise laid out a number of new yards. Much the same condition applies to other nations. It was said, especially the Scandinavian group.

"In fact, most of the nations of the world," the board said, "seem to be making extraordinary efforts toward securing a definite larger share in the world's carrying trade. This condition has already been reflected in sweeping cuts in ocean rates in the past few months."

ANNOUNCE WAGE CUTS.
Youngstown, Feb. 26.—The General Fireproofing company and the Trucon Steel company today announced reductions of 20 per cent in the hourly wage scale at their plants here, effective March 1. The new scale will be from 30 to 35 cents an hour.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT TOGETHER AGAIN.

President-elect Harding, at left, and Charles Evans Hughes, photographed when Harding notified Hughes that he had been chosen presidential candidate.

An interesting sidelight on the present situation is presented by the photo above, taken over four years ago. The picture was taken when President-elect Harding, then just a plain senator, called on Charles Evans Hughes to inform him formally that the Republican party had chosen Hughes as its candidate to run against Woodrow Wilson. Hughes looked then as a possible president and a few months later nearly became president. The result of the election was in doubt for days. Now Harding is about to become president, being the choice of a overwhelming majority of the people. And Hughes has been asked by Harding to aid him by becoming secretary of state under Harding. Hughes has accepted.

FIRE CHIEF BAUSCH BACK ON JOB; CIVIL SERVICE BOARD IS UNANIMOUS

No Testimony Offered By Defense at Hearing Friday—Commission Decides Mayor Atherton's Charges Are Not Proven By Evidence Offered—Orders Bausch Reinstated.

Following the hearing of witnesses for the city for 4 1/2 hours yesterday afternoon the civil service commission disaffirmed unanimously the action of Mayor H. A. Atherton in suspending Fire Chief Louis Bausch and ordered the chief reinstated. Witnesses for the city were the only ones called, the attorneys for the defense not finding it necessary to have Chief Bausch take the stand in his own defense.

After the city's witnesses had finished, Attorney Montgomery moved that the commission dismiss the charges against Chief Bausch on the grounds that the evidence offered was incompetent and that by the testimony of the fire captains called to the stand it was their opinion that Chief Bausch had used good judgment in the case of the Gearhart fire.

City Solicitor Ashcraft who handled the case for the city stated in reply to the motion of the defense that he came into the case in an official capacity and merely presented the evidence prepared by the mayor in the case. He said the question before the commission was to decide whether Bausch was efficient or not in the handling of the Gearhart fire. "The fact remains," he said, "that the home is a blackened ruin, and it is up to you to decide whether there was too much time wasted in handling the fire."

Taking about a minute for decision the commission, composed of Warren Suter, C. W. Kent, and J. W. Rutledge, made the decision exonerating Chief Bausch of the charges.

Of the nine witnesses called by the city George Gearhart was the first to take the stand. He testified that the fire, following each other almost immediately caused the destruction of his house. He testified that the first hose laid refused to function properly because of five stoppers in the nozzle which made it impossible to get a good stream of water through the hose. It took ten minutes for the department to run another hose from the plug a block and a half away. In the cross examination Gearhart testified that after the first fire was out he went with Chief Bausch all over the house and discovered no trace of fire.

R. C. Bigbee, who lives across the street from Gearhart, was next called, he having got to the fire first and attempted to put it out with a hand chemical. He said that a chemical brought in to the fire refused to work. He admitted that he left the fire and went home and did not see the second line of hose brought to the fire at all.

During the entire examination each side was allowed the greatest leniency in the admission of evidence. Anything which had even a remote bearing on the case was allowed to be brought in as evidence.

ARMENIANS ARE GIVEN HEARING

Allied Representatives Continue Conference on Near Eastern Question; Greeks
Will be Placed on Commission.

London, Feb. 26.—Armenian representatives were heard this forenoon by allied representatives gathered here for the near eastern conference. Later questions affecting Armenian and Kurdistan were taken up with Turkish delegates to the conference.

While it was generally expected the representatives of Turkish Nationalist government would agree to the proposals for a solution of the near eastern question, it was predicted the Greek answer would be in the negative. It was stated at the foreign office, however, that M. Kalogeropoulos, head of the Greek delegation, would be appointed a member of the inter-allied commission which will conduct an investigation of conditions in Thrace and Smyrna, and the fact this inquiry would be made did not imply that the Greeks would be compelled to evacuate territories they occupy. The Greek occupation of strategic points along the Dardanelles, it was said, would not be affected necessarily.

Moreover, the London Times points out the fate of Thrace, and Smyrna will not be determined by the commission, but will be settled by the allied governments after a study of its report.

Foreign Minister Sforza of Italy is credited with the success attending the allied efforts to impress the Turks as to the necessity of moderating their demands. He bluntly told them that, in view of the proposed investigation, they must refrain from raising greater difficulties on other points. Newspapers here published today a cable appeal from citizens of various localities around Smyrna, complaining of Turkish nationalist cruelties to native Christians.

The conference was regulated to a secondary position in today's newspapers, prominence being given to the fighting yesterday at Macerone, Ireland and the government's narrow escape from defeat yesterday in the house of commons where it won by 19 votes on a division called on the question of supplementary estimates for new public buildings.

YOUTH ESCAPES WITH FORTUNE IN LIBERTY BONDS

Bank Makes Offer In Effort
To Recover Bonds Stolen.

Would Use Influence With Police to Prevent Prosecution.

Decatur, Ills., Feb. 26.—William Dalton, who robbed a Chicago bank of $772,000 in Liberty bonds Thursday, was captured at Heyworth, 28 miles north of here, according to Jack Draper, constable. He had all but $500 worth of the bonds in a grip.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—The Northern Trust company, from which William Dalton, 17, took $772,000 in Liberty Bonds, will urge the police to release the youth, if he will return the securities, it was announced today by W. S. Miller, vice president of the institution.

"If Dalton wishes to accept this offer he should notify me at once, either at the bank or by my name," said Mr. Miller. "I will help him to straighten out and get settled back in the right road."

"If he will bring back the bonds at once we will urge his release. We cannot promise that he will not be prosecuted, because a decision as to that must be made by the city officials, but we will do all we can to help him."

Two clues to the flight of Dalton, who escaped Thursday with the bonds, the largest bank robbery in Chicago's history, were being traced by police today.

The youth, who Thursday night drove up to a garage in Waukegan, north shore suburb of Chicago, and asked to leave his automobile all night, was identified as Dalton. He then went down the street to the Salvation army hotel and asked to be allowed to sleep there, saying he was "broke."

Search of the broker leading north from Waukegan had disclosed no trace of the youth early today.

A young man identified as Dalton attempted to purchase an automobile from a South Side dealer, offered Liberty bonds in payment. The salesman refused to accept them. The young man's companion gave the name of John Oblinski, and an address which proved to be false.

Investigation of Dalton's home life and associates threw no light on the theft, police said.

His chum, Everett Dovalle, a page in the same bank, said he never talked about girls, spent most of his evenings at the Y. C. A. school and appeared to like his work at the bank.

Officials of the bank declared the theft could not have been planned by Dalton, or accomplices who might be influencing him, as he could not possibly have known that he would be given the package of Liberty bonds to check over, an such a bank transaction occurred only once or twice a year.

The bonds of the fourth issue, were temporary receipts, without coupons and bank officials said he wrapped them in a brown paper and tucked them under his arm when we went out to lunch Thursday. A companion employee, who went to lunch that day, said Dalton said he was going to put the bonds in his pocket. After eating he said, Dalton left him, saying he was going up the street.

MAIL ORDER HOUSE IS DEFAUDED BY CLERK

Chicago, Feb. 26.—Systematical frauds by which Montgomery and Ward company, mail order house, was defrauded out of thousands of dollars through a conspiracy of employees and customers, became known today through the disclosure of Charles Steinbach, a messenger for the company, 18 years old, and three men who posed as customers.

Officials of the companies say Steinbach understood the firm's methods so well he was able to put through a check of the firm, until the company's secretary of sales managers, which were later made the basis of claims for refund by the supposed customers.

One agent of the ring, which officials believed they uncovered, lived as far away as California. It was said. The fraud was operated for a long time, according to Carl R. Gray, Jr., member of the firm, until the company's investigation system on orders sent to persons who had never paid for the goods. Company officials said the losses would total many thousands of dollars, but could not be definitely fixed without actual checking of accounts.

SERVES SIX DAYS IN CONGRESS AND DRAWS $21,000 SALARY AND EXPENSES

Washington, Feb. 26.—John R. Farr, Republican of Scranton, Pennsylvania, took his seat in the house today as representative of the 10th Pennsylvania district as the result of action by the house last night in voting to unseat Patrick McLane, also of Scranton, who has held his seat throughout the present congress. Mr. Farr will draw $21,000 salary and incidental expenses for the six days he will serve in the house.

After the house voted 161 to 121 to remove McLane, the new member was immediately declared elected and was sworn in just before midnight. The proceedings against McLane were based on charges that he had violated the corrupt practices act and also that there had been wholesale election frauds in his return to congress.

The princely remuneration that goes with Representative Farr's six days of service, approximating a rate of $3,500 a day, results from a computation of salary and incidental allowances to cover the entire two years period of congress to which the house has held him to have been rightfully elected. While McLane also has drawn pay for the entire two years, lacking the six days remaining of the present congress, he is requested to make no refund, the single seat costing the government in effect almost twice the stipulated figure.

Committee Eliminates Tax Provisions and Reports Measure to Senate For Passage—Options Retained.

Washington, Feb. 26.—With the tax provisions eliminated, the soldier's bonus bill was reported to the senate today by the finance committee. The cash bonus would be payable January 1, 1923.

The question of taxes to meet the cost of bill was left for the next congress. Aside from striking out the tax provision, the committee made little changes in the house bill, retaining the five options of a cash bonus based on length of service, deferred certificates, farm and home aid and vocational training.

Use of the interest on the $10,000,000, 000 of American war loans to the allies in financing adjusted compensation for former service men is one of the plans under consideration by congress. This was disclosed today when the soldiers bonus bill was favorably reported by the senate finance committee.

LABOR LEADERS CONSIDER ACTION AGAINST MINERS

Secretary Green Says Government Is Party to Any Conspiracy.

Agreements Made Under Government Direction
He Points Out.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor met here to consider the action of the government in prosecuting officials of the United Mine Workers of America for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Before the meeting began, William Green, secretary of the miner's union and one of those indicted yesterday at Indianapolis issued a formal statement declaring that "if the Union officials were guilty of conspiracy, the government itself is a party thereto" because the miners had been subject to government regulation and control for the last three years. Mathew Wolf, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, declared the indictment of the union officials was "a part of a nation wide propaganda to destroy the trade union movement" as the action struck "at the very foundation of the principles of collective bargaining."

Mr. Green said all agreements made with coal operators by the Union of officers were made "under the direction and with the approval of the federal fuel administration."

"Production was speeded up during the war under the auspices of the government," he said, "increases in wages were made under the direction of the fuel administration and the selling price of coal was fixed by it. In way it regulated wages and when an increase was granted it stipulated what increase in selling price should take place in order to absorb any increase in wages."

"These indictments seem to be the renewed efforts of the government to put forth special efforts during the war in order to increase production."

"The bituminous coal commission in its award set forth the following: 'We hope that there will be a decline in the cost of living in the next two years but we realize that the miners have borne an increase above their advances of wages and consider the possible future in living costs as an offset for these losses.'"

"There is proof that the miners' wages did not keep pace with the increase in the cost of living during the war."

MAY HAVE TOWERS FOR DIRIGIBLE MOORINGS

Pulham, Eng. — Experiments are shortly to be carried out at the aero-drome here with the object of establishing the stability or otherwise of steel towers as moorings for big dirigibles.

An attempt is to be made to moor the giant R-33, the sister dirigible to the trans-Atlantic flyer R-34, to a steel tower 150 feet in height.

If the experiments are successful it will have marked effect on the position of this class of aircraft as commerce carriers, for it will mean that the steel tower is likely to be the usual form of station headquarters for the dirigible of the future.

The steel tower, however, is only an experimental one and not the highly developed tubular construction which the powers of the future are expected to be. A shaft runs up the tower and through this by means of pipes, the R-33 can be re-fueled and re-gassed.

The R-34 recently was destroyed by a storm. The disaster was attributed by some aviation experts to lack of a tower to which to moor the airship.

FIRE CHIEF

testified to 20 years service in the department under Chief Bausch, that the squad wagon was a block from the fire, that there was a 10 minute interval between the two fires at Gearhart's, that the hose with the choked nozzle threw a stream of 15 feet, that a 40-gallon chemical tank was used up, and that the electricity was not turned off in the house during the fire. On cross examination he testified that it was good judgment to keep what water there was on the fire rather than stop and change nozzles.

Captain Dennis Foley who was off duty at the time of the fire testified on cross examination that it would be good judgment to use what water there was on a fire and wait until another line was laid before attempting to fix the first line, provided that it was delivering enough water to keep the fire in check.

Edward Rowe, former member of the fire department for 20 years under Chief Bausch testified that he was in charge of the pump at the Music Hall fire in 1919 and that he assisted the chief there. He stated that the pump which was not used until the fire got into the boiler block should have been used sooner. On cross examination he admitted that he spent three weeks learning the use of the pump and that he was the expert at the department on the pump. He admitted that as soon as he suggested to the chief to use the pump on the fire the chief said go ahead.

Lon Lee, plug repairman for the fire department, took the stand and testified that he blew out the plug on Channel street used at the Gearhart fire, last fall, and the day after the fire.

M. J. Reese testified that he notified Chief Bausch of the bad condition of the Arendse cellar and that they inspected it at various times. He admitted that Chief Bausch issued orders for the removal of the rubbish many times but that it was not removed.

Guy R. Whyde, next door neighbor of George Gearhart was next called. He told of his experience at the fire, a very mixed account of it. He admitted to the defense that he was mainly interested in saving his own home and that he did not see what went on at the fire.

Safety Director L. S. Pemberton then took the stand, telling of the coming of the stand, telling of the coming of the Fire Underwriters and his inspection of the department last Saturday. Mr. Pemberton stated that the orders of Mr. Howland were not carried out and that the firemen broke through the window through careless handling of the truck. On cross examination Attorney Montgomery brought out that in the last year there had been trouble at the department over lack of pay and that several of the men were more than a half dozen years new and inexperienced. He brought out the fact that inspections did not have to be reported to Pemberton. Pemberton testifying previously that the chief had never reported to him of inspections made. Pemberton also admitted that the captains had charge of the men and he stated that he considered the captains competent men.

City Solicitor Ashcroft represented the city and attorneys Phil Smythe, J. R. Fitzgerald and C. W. Montgomery represented Chief Bausch.

Following the completion of Mr. Pemberton's testimony and the argument and announcement of acquittal the crowd in the city council chamber where the hearing was being held gave a cheer and came up to congratulate Chief Bausch. The hearing which started at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon was not finished until 5:45.

BELIEVES FRUIT DIET IS BEST

London Physician Urges It to Repair Havoc Wrought by the War.

Gives Results of Observations On Trip to Jamaica.

London.—Dr. Josiah Oldfield, English physician and author, who believes that flesh-eating is a prolific source of disease and one of the worst enemies of the human race, is of the opinion that the wastage of life caused by the war might be speedily repaired by right feeding.

Dr. Oldfield is a strong advocate of the fruitarian diet and has been senior physician of the Lady Margaret Fruitarian Hospital in Bromley. Writing from Jamaica he says:

"My observations here confirm my views that food and fertility go hand in hand. The commission dealing with the grave problem of the steadily falling birthrate in Europe has failed to grasp the fundamental truth which applies to vegetable and animal and human life alike—that a right dietary means increased fertility and wrong feeding leads to increasing sterility.

"If a gardener wants much foliage he feeds the plant with one food; if he wants fruit or seed he feeds it quite differently. So does the stock feeder and breeder. It is a difference in food only which transforms similar eggs, one into a drone and another into a queen bee.

"Whereas before the war in every European country the birth rate showed a steady fall, yet in Siberia, Bulgaria and Rumania, where the hardy peasants still lived on rye bread, dried fruits, vegetables, cheese, oil and sour milk, there was a continuous high birth rate and no decrease.

"Here in the West Indies, where the dark races live on yams, sweet potatoes, cassava, Indian corn, sugar, milk, coconuts, bananas and oranges, with some salt fish, the birth rate is high and the fertility irrefragable.

"Owing to ignorance and want of sanitation the infant mortality is high, but when that is removed the black population will multiply at a far higher rate than the white unless the white population of the world learn that it is corn, oil and wine, salads, milk and honey which produce a fertile race, and that meat-eating spells sterility."

DENISON TAKES OVER OHIO STATE

Whirlwind Attack Early in Game Give Baptists Edge on Big Ten Squad—Skill Shown in Long Shots.

Columbus, Feb. 26.—Racing off with an early lead which, though threatened, was not overcome, Denison rode through on the high end of a 35 to 32 score over Ohio State in basket ball last night at the Coliseum.

The game was fast after the opening minutes of play. As the close of the first period approached the Buckeyes began narrowing down Denison's margin, leaving the score 20 to 16 in the visitors' favor.

The final period also saw Trautman men end the Big Red team until within three minutes of play, when two fouls coupled with a basket gave the Baptists a safe lead.

The game was featured by the entrance of Denison men in both lineups. "Pete" Stinchcomb made his initial appearance in floor circles when he went in for the Buckeyes at left guard. For the visitors "Tip" Owen, a Columbus boy, and wellknown in Ohio football circles, took Erien's place at left forward for a short time.

Though displaying good team work, the Denison five was unable to hold in check "Red" Blair of the Buckeyes. The husky Ohio State forward ranged to and fro on the floor, registering eight baskets in all. Totalling 16 points, Blair made half of Ohio State's score and was likewise half of the Scarlet and Gray team.

GERMAN TOOL MAKERS GET DUTCH TRADE

Rotterdam.—German manufacturers of steel tools have practically driven American tools out of the market in Holland, according to statistics compiled by the American consul general.

Previous to the recent industrial renaissance in Germany, nearly 90 per cent of this trade was in the hands of Americans.

The change is largely due, according to Consul General Anderson, to the favorable money exchange conditions prevailing so long as the mark is low and the dollar is high.

It may be true that all the world's a stage, but financial backers are mighty keen.

LABOR LEADERS

A. Augustus, Cambridge Collieries Co., National Coal Association, William H. Hoakins, Sharon Coal Co., Elk Coal Co., Joseph Purslove, Purslove-Mahner Coal Co., Charles E. Mahner, the Glenn Run Coal Co., The Youngsberry and Ohio Coal Co., Pittsburgh Coal Co., Great Lakes Coal Mining Co., and James H. Pritchard.

Other miners' officials indicted are William Roy, Bellair, vice president Ohio Mine Workers; George Cecil Wellston; Thomas Price, Midvale; William Robinson, Jacksonville; John Saxton, Salineville, and William C. Thompson, Cambridge. All of the last named are subsidiary presidents.

Judge A. B. Anderson, who received the indictment, set May 3 for arraignment, and in issuing capias for arrest of the defendants, he fixed the bonds of each at $10,000. Names of all defendants except 12 were made public.

Prominent operators including Thomas T. Brewster, Edward C. Scarles, Jackson Deering, Phil Penna and William K. Kavanaugh, and high officials of the United Mine Workers' Union, including its president, John L. Lewis, and Secretary William Green, were among the defendants. The National Coal Association was among the corporate defendants.

The indictment covers specifically the last three years in the coal industry, and follows on investigation that has been conducted almost continuously the last 18 months by agents of the federal department of justice. The charge is made by the indictment that at various conferences the miners and operators agreed to be partners in mining and distributing coal, and that they would aid one another in plans to increase price, create a shortage and otherwise limit production and distribution. Creation of fictitious market prices and the protection of miners' strikes by operators also was charged by the indictment.

PORTER THOUGHT CANDY BOX CONTAINED HOOCH

Since his return home Fred W. Kahrl has allowed it to leak out that he was the unwilling victim of a robbery at Newark.

Mr. Kahrl was bringing home with him, among other things, a small two pound box of the finest candy it was possible to buy in the metropolis. Naturally he kept a close supervision over his purchase and brought it successfully as far as Newark. While in that city waiting for his train he left his baggage, including the box of candy in charge of a hotel porter charging the porter to be particularly mindful of the box.

When Mr. Kahrl came to claim his possession the hotel and the porter were missing. Mr. Kahrl summed because of certain deductions that the porter believed the content of the box to be liquid rather than solid and yielded to an irresistible temptation to abscond.

Mr. Kahrl, while confessing to a keen sense of disappointment because of his inability to deliver the candy at its appointed destination, admits to an inclination whether the joke is on him or on the porter.—Mt. Vernon Banner.

FORMER B-O CONDUCTOR DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Word has been received of the death of Taylor Spence, a veteran Baltimore & Ohio conductor at his home in Redlands, Calif.

Mr. Spence for many years had the B. & O. run between Zanesville and Newark and was one of the most popular men on the road. He was a conductor for about 20 years and made many friends along the route of his train.

About ten years ago he was pensioned and retired, moving to California, where he purchased an orange grove. He is survived by his wife and one daughter.

ENGLISH CENSUS WILL BE TAKEN IN APRIL

London.—Details of the decennial census of the British Isles were announced here recently by S. P. Vivian, the new registrar-general, showing that the enumeration of the people, which is to begin in April, will cost approximately $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 and require a staff of 400 workers in the London headquarters alone to deal with the schedules. There will be 38,000 enumeration districts with a separate enumerator for every two or three hundred households.

"The war has cut clean across every branch of our national life," said Registrar-General Vivian. "It has broken up and redistributed all local populations. It has violently upset all birth, marriage and death rates. It has altered the whole occupational and industrial configuration of the country and completely changed many of the customs, habits and conditions of the people. There is hardly a single question upon which we can look back to the results of the last census for guidance."

JAPS WILL TAKE STONE EAGLE AS WAR TROPHY

Tsingtao, China.—Japanese authorities announce that the huge German eagle carved on the granite side of one of the hills flanking the harbor of Tsingtao, across which has been superimposed the insignia of imperial Japan, will be blasted from the hillside and removed to Tokio, where it will be placed in a museum.

When the Japanese seized Tsingtao in the first year of the war with Germany they inscribed the date of their victory across the eagle.—November 7, Third Year of Taisho (1914).

LIBRARY NEEDS PLEDGE PAYMENTS

Expense of Moving and Extra Cost of Maintenance in New Location Brings Urgent Need For Cash.

The Newark Public Library is in need of funds, and those who have pledged money for the support of the institution have been asked by the treasurer of the board to meet their unpaid pledges.

The collections so far received from the campaign for the library last fall are $4,880.81. This does not include the proceeds of the Thalian tag day, by that society of the Newark high school. The members of the society collected $975.37.

About $1000 in pledges is unpaid and the library is greatly in need of the money. The expense of refitting the new quarters in West Church street was heavy amounting to more than $4,000 and the upkeep expenses are greater than when the rooms were in the Memorial building.

To meet these expenses it is asked that all pledges be paid.

BUSINESS MEN'S CLASS WILL PLAY ZANESVILLE

Competitive sports as is viewed by the casual observer is an affair entirely for the younger generation. This conception gets a decided punch when the business men of the Monday gymnasium class at the Y. M. C. A. play the Zanesville Y. M. C. A. business men in volleyball here next week.

Newark extended Zanesville an invitation to visit at the Y. M. C. A. and play a series of games in volleyball. The communication was conveyed to Zanesville last night and it was accepted. The volleyball players from both cities will clash Monday night at 6 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

While this is more a social affair, Newark will try to win out in the series of volleyball games. Visitors will be permitted free to the balcony of the gym to see the games. A real good time is expected as this is the first visit of the Zanesville Y. M. C. A. men for a number of years. The game to begin about 6 o'clock which means that the members of the regular class in order to get in a little work out before the games, began had better get down for class about 5:15.

135 EGGS DAILY FROM 200 HENS

The daily average from 200 hens, 70 of which are pullets, of 135 eggs, is reported by Mrs. J. St. John, River Head, Toledo, Ohio. Mrs. St. John buys Pratt's Poultry Regulator in 25 lb. pails and claims the splendid results she is experiencing are due to the regular use of "Pratts."

Pratt's Poultry Regulator, mixed with a good egg-making ration, not only makes hen lay, but the eggs wanted for hatching will produce sturdy chicks that will develop into A-1 pullets and cockerels. Test "Pratts" with this understanding—"Your Money Back If You Are Not Satisfied." Pratt's Poultry Preparations will make your poultry pay.

LECTURE No. 58

The Three-Plate Clutch.

A clutch which is fast increasing in popularity, is the single plate, or per- haps more correctly, the three-plate clutch. This is a sort of disc clutch, but the discs are generally of a quite great circumference. Usually one plate, the middle one, is of steel and fastened to the driven member (that is, the part bearing M and collar N, just as it is in the disc and cone clutch.

As the clutch is generally built, the arms of which there are three, are fastened at the pivot to a movable plate, which plate is held by means of two clamping screws to the cover. By loosening these screws and then making the plate revolve in a clockwise direc-fastened to the transmission, etc.), while the other two plates are faced with some material which has a high coefficient of friction, such as Raybestos, and are driven by the flywheel.

In order to get a great pressure between the plates, and yet with the use of a comparatively weak spring, the spring is made to exert its pressure through a set of levers.

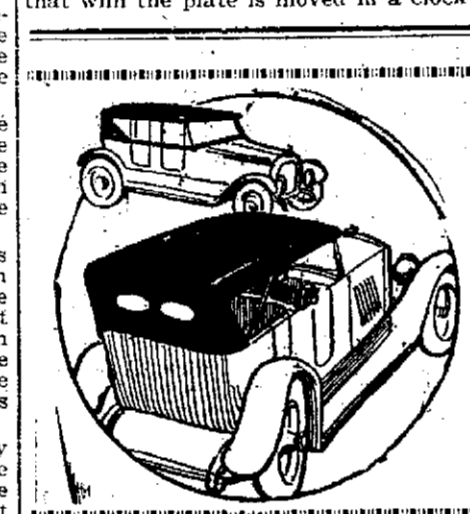

The illustration shows a three-plate clutch. Here A is the flywheel of the engine. B are the plates driven by the flywheel. C is the driven plate, which is keyed to the shaft S, so that the shaft must revolve with this plate.

The pressure between the plates is exerted by the spring E, acting through the collar D and levers F. Note the leverage obtained by the spring. Not only is the arm F long in comparison to the portion G, but by making the surface H inclined there is the same inclined plane, or wedge, action which is obtained in the cone clutch.

The clutch is freed or disengaged by pulling the collar D back against the action of the spring, by means of the foot pedal acting through the thrust tion the tension of the spring can be adjusted.

To accomplish this the inclined surface H, are long, the incline being greater at one end than at the other, so that when the plate is moved in a clockwise direction as stated above, the arms will work on a greater incline. A quarter of an inch movement of the plate will generally be enough to overcome slipping.

If a car having this clutch, starts with a series of jerks, the trouble can generally be remedied by removing one of the bolts, which clamp the adjusting plate, and then adjusting about a half pint of lubricating oil through the hole made by removing the bolt. When assembling a thin coating of grease should be smeared on the plates.

A hint to mechanics when taking clutches apart. Should it be found that when all the bolts have been removed, necessary to take the clutch off, the clutch holds as though it were still bolted, it can often be freed by putting the transmission in high, and then revolving, from the universal side, in a direction opposite to that in which the engine runs.

It is not what the Ford Motor Company says about the Fordson Tractor but what the army of users have to say. This book voices the hardest kind of practical experience. It shows in illustration the Fordson Tractor at actual work along some ninety different lines of activity. It shows in these illustrations the wonderful versatility and utility of the Fordson Tractor. Shows it to be, beyond all question, the one bit of machinery that is a necessity, not only on the farm but along lines of commercial business; especially does it show up the Fordson as a valuable servant on the farm. With it the farmer is relieved of the hard work; because he can take advantage of weather in preparing his seed bed; he can do it at the right time; the same is true when it comes to harvesting. It solves, to a great extent, the problem of scarcity of labor.

—Deuteronomy 10: 12.

NO RIGHT OF REVIEW.

Governor Davis and his thoroughly trained legislature are unwilling to give the people of Ohio the right guaranteed them under the constitution to review and pass upon any acts of the legislature.

This is patent in the enormous number of bills jammed through the legislature with the emergency clause attached. It may be asserted without fear of contradiction that not a single measure has appeared that touches any situation wherein any semblance of an emergency exists.

The intention therefore is plain. Governor Davis and his political array do not intend to submit anything to the people in a referendum if it can be avoided.

There is more evidence to this effect. Because of the tremendous increase in the number of voters at the last election, it now requires 120,000 signatures to refer a legislative act to the people. The Davis administration has made no effort to reduce this number, which is so great that none but a powerful and wealthy organization can attempt it.

So Harry L. Davis, who publicly proclaims himself the champion of the people's rights, behind closed doors lays the plans to deny to the voters the rights given them under the constitution.

JUDGING A SCHOOL.

Educational authorities are constantly urging parents to visit schools. They may not be able always to judge of the technical value of the work, but they can get an idea both of the teacher's personality and of general school conditions.

It would be fine if every school in Newark could be visited regularly by some committee representing a mother's club, woman's club, or parent-teacher association. Sometimes the mothers would discover wrong conditions that are tolerated by public authorities. The following list of points to be used in judging a school is suggested.

1. Is it overcrowded?
2. Is there a sufficient number of teachers, (for buildings having a considerable number of rooms)?
3. Is the school kept in good repairs?
4. Are the rooms, the drinking arrangements, and sanitary conveniences, in wholesome condition?
5. Is the school well lighted and ventilated?

There are many school rooms even in prosperous communities that are defective in one or more of these conditions. Schools that have scientific ventilation, are sometimes complained of because they take the air and render it lifeless. Many teachers say that the only sure ventilation system is thorough airing through the windows. Otherwise the children get dull and droopy, and are susceptible to disease attacks. They can not do good work without oxygen.

Bad lighting is also somewhat common. By some peculiar fate the child with weak eyes may get the darkest corner. An overcrowded school is common condition. It deprives individual children of the attention they need, and slows up the progress of the whole bunch.

AMERICA ON THE OUTSIDE.

The United States has a right to have its voice heard on all matters of international policy. Yet here the most fundamental questions are being settled over in Europe, questions in which the United States is profoundly interested, which affect all our business and daily interests, and the United States is not consulted.

The reason why we have no share in this is not that the European powers do not wish to consult us. We have ardently begged us to take share. But through the contumacious and irreconcilable attitude of the United States, we have drawn our skirts around us, and withdrawn into impenenot dare to enforce our rights, because we are so fearful and timid about entering into "entangling alliances," by joining the league of nations.

It is true that the Republican leaders have declared for an "association of nations." But apparently they want the more than 40 nations that have already formed a league which is meeting the situation, to completely scrap all that they have done and begin anew in obedience to our command.

The powers of Europe have a little self-respect left, and do not care to be ordered about by the representatives of any American political party. They will not probably assent to any such absurd proposal.

If the Republican party sincerely desired to take its part in the world settlement, and protect the interests of the country, it would have taken steps at the present session of congress to ratify the peace treaty with the Lodge reservations, which went even beyond the limit in protecting American rights. That would have gotten us into the league and then this country could have taken part in these fateful decisions so vital to our future. But no, they say the league is dead. But if so, some 45 nations that belong to it have not heard of it.

After the young American has got so he can read a Spanish primer, he expects to be able to write letters that will sell goods in South America, in competition with agents who have lived among those people all their lives.

The grocers of Newark can't give us cheaper cereals, because the people can't eat them unless they are dolled up in boxes with fancy paper and pretty girl pictures.

The old time workman who used to come down town and boast how much work he had done in a day, would be regarded as mentally lacking in these times.

People used to speak of taking candy from a child as the least difficult form of robbery, but now they refer to stealing from the government.

The modern maid is too frequently made up.

ENACTING A FRAUD.

(New York World)
In its original form the Fordney Emergency Tariff bill was a clumsy attempt by Republican politicians to fool the farmers into believing that it would restore war prices for certain products. They knew better, and a few had the courage to confess the truth.

Not one of the promoters pretended that this political Emergency Tariff bill if passed by congress would create a market for a single additional bushel of wheat or pound of wool out of the surplus left over from last year's crop. It was obvious that the higher prices rose for the American farmers' products the less able Europe, in its impoverished condition and at the ruling rates of exchange would be able to buy them.

But having started the game of promising the farmers protection and higher prices the leaders found it impossible to hold the house and senate to their program. Every Republican member who had farmers in his district wanted a share of the good things that were passed around. If an emergency tariff was to be placed on wheat why not on peanuts? California raises lemons so the duty on lemons was raised.

It was a general scramble to get a share of the political benefits of the bill and every day that the Fordney Tariff bill remained under discussion in the house and senate the political "emergency" became more grave and the demand for amendments more nearly irresistible.

All the while it was plainly understood that the Fordney tariff would never go into effect. It was never intended to go into effect. It began as a fraud and will end as a force.

A NEW BRAND—TRY IT IN YOUR PIPE

BORROWED HUSBANDS

By MILDRED K. BARBOUR

XLII.—The Stage Is Set.

Nancy had occasion that evening to view with satisfaction the opening scene of her campaign.

Major Desmond obedient to instructions, began his attentions to Edith while they were having coffee before a roaring fire in the library.

Very deftly, he managed to draw Edith away from Nancy and Dr. Langwell who were lounging silently in great chairs before the fire, the eyes of each bent upon the crackling flames, under the pretext of wishing to see a rare edition of some literary master. Desmond drew Edith into a corner where the reading lamp beside them would not detract from the firelight for the other two.

There, with their hands bent cosily over the volume Edith held, taking in low tones just they disturb the silent pair before the fire, the first step of Nancy's instructions was carried out.

It was Nancy who appeared listless that evening, not Edith. But beneath the surface, Nancy was never so alert. She made no effort to overhear what the two were saying in the window corner; rather she had her eye and ear attuned to catch the first sign of interest from the doctor, the first evidence of realization that his wife was not sitting white and silent, by his side.

She waited a long time, maintaining her own silence.

Finally the doctor moved, stretched luxuriously, and glanced around to the chair where Edith had been sitting.

His look of surprise was stimulant to Nancy.

He turned around, attracted by the murmured conclave in the window corner.

"What are you two up to?" he asked lazily.

Edith came to her feet with a suddenness for which Nancy could have shaken her.

"I was showing Major Desmond your edition of Dante," she said quickly, holding out the volume as proof.

"A very rare set, Doctor," supplemented the young officer, rising also.

"Pretty fair," conceded Langwell, "I have some more interesting than that in my collection. I'll show, if you like."

Nancy sank back in her chair with a sigh.

The game was off for the evening. The doctor, had the conversation in hand. He would ride his hobby for the education of the assembled company until bedtime, she felt confident.

Well the beginning had not been so bad. There was that one surprised look to be thankful for.

But Nancy did not give up easily. She had more than one card up her sleeve.

She rose lazily from her chair and drifted over to the window facing the lake.

"There's a heavenly moon," she announced, "don't you think we are awfully unappreciative sitting before a fire when the lake looks as it does to-night?"

The doctor glanced up from the book he was showing Desmond.

"Like a walk before turning in?" "Rather," smiled Nancy. "A real walk, though. No sentimental stroll. A nice brisk mile along the lake. What do you say?"

"I'm on," declared the doctor, laying down the book, "Run up and get a wrap."

"Shall I bring yours, Edie?" asked Nancy.

"If you don't mind," said Edith hesitatingly, "the night air at the lake is so chilly—I'd really rather not go. But don't let that deter you and Fredrick. And I know Major Desmond is fond of brisk walks!" she added smiling at the young officer.

The doctor hesitated. Nancy, standing beside him, pinched his arm under cover of her scarf.

"I'd rather stay with you. If you don't mind, Mrs. Langwell," he said, flushing.

Edith flushed too, at the vaguely implied compliment, but she said wearily enough:

"You will probably regret it. I am very stupid tonight."

Nancy broke in quickly:

"They're not a bit sporting, are they, Doctor? Never mind, we'll go alone and they'll be sorry they didn't join us when they see how young and ruddy the fresh air has made us."

She ran upstairs and slipped quickly into a wrap with a deep fur collar, cramming a fur toque down over her hair.

"Moonlight and a fascinating young doctor for me! Firelight and a handsome young officer for Edith! Something romantic is just bound to happen!"

Dressing for the Inauguration Is Some Job

To the Editor of the Advocate:

Well I don't suppose it is necessary to tell my readers what is going to come off in Washington D. C. next Friday but maybe some of them will be surprised to hear that I am going to be there though not in the capacity like it looked like at one time last summer during the democratic convention held at Salt Lake in San Francisco.

I am going in the roll of a private citizen instead of what might be called the salary inducements had of made to fix the plumbing in the White House, but all and all I like this way a whole lot better and perhaps some of my readers feel the same way. Henry Ford once said:

"I would rather be right than be president and I will go him one better and say:

"I would rather have a Ford than be Henry."

Joking a side, me going to Wash-loom up in a shirt of Chinese white over white B. V. D's, a 15 12 collar of the same hue, flowered white brassiere, and soup and fish and Ham Langford black with shoes and socks of some dark tint. I won't wear no ornaments except a place on my knee that somebody mistook for a ash tray New Yrs. eve and if you see it in a certain light it looks like the knee cap Peeping Tom. The old nose will carry a shower bouquet of violet talcum powder.

Those of my readers that is going to be present and have never saw an inauguration will maybe want to know what it is like. Well the one next Friday is supposed to be very simple but they generally always have 3 big events that is opened to the public which is the inaugural parade and taking the oath of office and the inaugural address. The parade is in 2 divisions and in the 1st section you will see Pres. Harding and the Senators and the foreign ambassadors and dups and their wives. The Washington ington as a sight seer will give me a chance to pal around with my old pals and maybe get acquainted with you dear readers who I feel all ready like to feel that way about me as long as it doesn't go no further, but it might be a good idea to warn my admirers amongst the opp. sex that expects to be there that I expect to be accompanied by the first lady of the land, and I thought she was or I wouldn't married her.

We will leave N. Y. city Tuesday noon so as they won't be no chance of not getting there in time as the trains is obliged to run slow through the one of Quiet where the declaration of independence was signed over 80 yrs. ago. The depot we are going to leave N. Y. out of is being kept a deep misery on acct. of the Mrs. being scared of flash lights but sufficient to say that we haven't no intentions of leaving from the Grand Central.

Arriving in the capital as I sometimes refer to it, we will be welcomed in a taxi to a hotel with a bath. Personally I always prefer stopping at a hotel so as a person can get their pants pressed while you sleep, but of course my readers will realize that we didn't have no lack of invitations to stay in a private house. For instance as long ago as Jan. I told one of my Wash-ball club will be in the second division.

A Guide to the City.
These same readers has maybe never even been to Washington before, so I will tell them a little about the town. It was named after Geo. Washington who married Martha Curtis, but they say Geo. swore a good deal himself and had the Washington record till Chas. Davies hit town.

Washington is always called the city of magnificent distances because if you go block from the hotel you will go 9 blocks trying to find the way back. The town is divided into 4 sections which is northwest, northeast, southwest and southeast and it was layed out that way to make it simple and I guess even Houdini could get from one place to another if they was a lot of policemen in route.

But don't buy no guide book as the streets is all named after the different states and letters of the alphabet and you can save money by just taking along an atlas and a primer. They's been a lot of argument about who I street was named after but they say now that the honor lays between Pres. Wilson.

One of the first building you see when you get off the train is the station. Then they's the govt. printing office where Sum. Lloyd mapped out the income tax blanks. Up in the hotel list you will see the I. O. U. treasury ware house, formally the treasury bldg., and a magnificent distant from there is the Washington monument which become famous back in 1908 of 1910 when Gabby Street, the Washington catcher, caught a ball that was dropped off of the top of it. Everybody said he couldn't do it, but he done it on the 14th. trial and people thought it was a great trick till along came Billy Sullivan of the Chicago White Sox and caught the second ball dropped off.

At that time Abe Attell was still sticking to the fight game.

Another bldg. you will want to see, especially if you are expecting any mail, is the dead letter office which they say has tripled its receipts in the last 2 or 4 yrs.

While the inauguration ain't till Friday the city will begin to fill up tomorrow and next day and most of the visitors will probably stay in Washington till Saturday night. Sunday, March 6, is my birthday and everything will be closed up.

The last time I was in Washington was back in 1917, the first yr. we was at war with Germany. I never expected it would last this long.

Practical Household Methods of Testing Textiles Given By Specialists of United States Department of Agriculture—When Buying Linen Make Sure It Is Linen.

Cotton, wool, silk and linen fibers are treated in so many ways during spinning and weaving that they often look and feel like one another, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture by way of caution to the housewife. Cotton, for instance, sometimes resembles wool, silk, or linen so closely that even an experienced buyer is deceived. The housekeeper therefore needs to know some of the simple tests for textiles in order to get full value for her money when she buys clothing and household fabrics.

How to Tell Linen From Cotton. Pure linen is so scarce and high in price nowadays that the housekeeper needs to be doubly sure that she is getting pure linen when she pays for it. Cotton, especially when mercerized, is often used to adulterate linen, and the high luster makes it difficult to tell the difference. Cotton and linen mixtures will look dull and somewhat fuzzy. This test will show also whether the fabric is firmly or loosely woven or whether it looks fine and strong merely because of skillful finishing. Whenever possible it is safer to buy linen that has little or no sizing—a sort of paste used to stiffen the fabric—in it.

Tests for Silk. Silk apparently of good quality sometimes splits or falls apart after a little or no wear. Weighting the fibers with mineral salts just before dyeing to give the fabric body is generally the cause, and this kind of adulteration has been very common during the last few years when raw silk has been exceptionally expensive. Weighted silks sometimes give good service, but in general pure silks wear better.

Burning a sample of silk is an easy way to test for weighting. Pure silk burns readily, gives off an odor like

DOROTHY DALTON IS NOW STAGE STAR

Dorothy Dalton, who is to appear at the Alhambra theater today in her new picture, "Black Is White," recently astonished the New York critics and public by scoring an emphatic hit in "The Return of Peter Grimm" at the Hartman theater, Columbus, which will be shown at the Auditorium theater Sunday. Five hours were required to take 100 feet of film which will occupy only a few seconds on the screen. This part of the film shows what is known as a "disolve," in which one scene dissolves into another. Three scenes were so merged in this 100 feet of film.

COLUMBUS COMPLIMENTS WARFIELD'S APPEARANCE
The following very flattering review of David Warfield's appearance in "The Return of Peter Grimm" at the Hartman theater, Columbus, will interest Newark theatergoers as Mr. Warfield comes to the Auditorium March 2: "If they only knew," said the Columbus "Globe," "of Peter Grimm and to a circus tune, 'Uncle Rat Has Gone to Town,' the spirit of the loving old gardener and the little neglected Willem pass out into the forever and David Warfield has come to the Hartman this week is one of his early triumphs. There were occasions last evening when Warfield brought back not only the spirit of Peter Grimm but also those of the "Music Master" and the "Auctioneer." So long have we watched this incomparable artist in the two latter roles that into his heretofore unseemly characterization of the Dutch Gardener these two beloved characters seemed to enter.

The Belasco touch is evident everywhere through the three acts. Realism, such as genuine coffee with sugar and cream, lightning and audible downpour of rain, beside unusual lighting effects, marked the play as Mr. B. B. own.

During the second and third acts the stage was necessarily dark to accommodate Peter Grimm's spirit, which pervades them but there were several occasions where there should have been

HILL'S MINSTRELS REALLY TWO BIG PRODUCTIONS

The big consolidation of Gus Hill's Minstrels and the George Evans' Honey Boy Minstrels, which has just finished a four weeks stay at the Chicago Auditorium and kept the Windy City in a wave of movement during its stay in that city, will appear at the Auditorium, Tuesday, March 1st.

The many lovers of minstrelsy will be delighted to learn that this splendid organization will again be seen in this city. This season's production is an extremely new and novel entertainment devised and staged by James Gorman, who has been responsible for the success of many minstrel shows. This season's offering will embrace all the charm and romance of old-time minstrelsy and the dash and speed of the more modern school with old "King Jazz," the Monarch of Harmony, playing a very important part in the performance.

The two last acts show Peter Grimm the returned spirit, trying to get his message across and so undo the wrong he has done by urging Katie to marry

DAVID WARFIELD IN "THE RETURN OF PETER GRIMM"

Until David Warfield, in David Belasco's remarkable play, portrayed his latest character, Peter Grimm, which the great actor will present here on March 2, it had been thought that he could never be fortunate enough to interpret another role as popular as his "Music Master." Mr. Warfield, like many another genius who has given the world a masterpiece, was apparently overburdened with the success he made in the role of the gentle old Von Truwig, until he stood in jeopardy of being known as a one part actor.

"Peter Grimm" however, is now acknowledged to have accomplished the apparently impossible for this lovable character has well supplemented in interest and esteem the place that the "Music Master" held. The new Warfield character, is said to reflect the same simple-hearted charm as did the old musician, Herr Von Truwig. Where the good music master aimed his beauty of thought and soul from the world of melody, Peter Grimm's character rose into its purity of feeling from living among flowers.

FRANK MAYO IN "COLORADO" SUNDAY

Those who enjoy the silent drama in its most popular form will find a feature patterned to their taste in "Colorado," at the Alhambra Sunday with Frank Mayo as the star.

"Colorado" was a huge stage success a few years ago. It is the work of Augustus Thomas, foremost of American playwrights and one of that series of "stage plays" which included "Arizona," "Alhambra," "The Desert," and others. In making the screen adaptation of "Colorado" Wallace Clifton has brought the story up to the minute.

In the role of Frank Austin, alias Lieutenant Haverly, the man who has been deserted from the army to save a woman's good name and who tries to save a new career for himself in the mining country of Colorado, Frank Mayo has one of the most interesting roles of his career. The part is eminently suited to his manly, robust character, and gives him the opportunity to use all the acting skill he possesses.

Alone on the desert, he saves the life of a dying man who takes him into his home and shows him a new path to happiness. The man's daughter wins the fugitive's heart and shows him the goodness which fills the world; but, living under a cloud he is unable to tell her of his great love.

Glenn Hope, as the girl, gives another of those sympathetic characterizations which screen fans always expect from her. Leonard Clapham, so popular in the Red Rider stories, here plays the part of a villain, while his partner in crime in the story is Charles LeMayne. Rosa Gore and Dan Crimmins have comedy roles, Charles Newton is the father, Lillian West is the wife and other parts are well played. The splendid direction is credited to Reeves Eason.

BIG FOX FILM BUILT ON WALL STREET COMING.

"The Plunger" is the interesting title of a William Fox picture which will open at the Alhambra next Monday. All advance accounts offer flattering evidence of an unusually entertaining production from the standpoint of both story and scenic effects.

We are told that the company making this picture quitted the scene of the recent Wall Street explosion only a few hours before the disaster. Big points of interest are photographs of the explosion corner the curb market Exchange building. The story itself concerns "Take a Chance" Schuyler, a Stock Exchange broker, and his effort to win Alice Houghton, daughter of a fellow broker, whom an unsuccessful suitor for the girl's hand makes a nuptial. Dell Henderson directed the production from a story by Thomas F. Fallon.

OLIVE TELL AT THE GRAND ON SUNDAY

In "A Woman's Business" the latest Jane's feature starring charming Olive Tell, is to be found a cast that many a producer would call all-star, for it contains the names of several famous stage and screen favorites.

Edmond Lowe plays opposite Miss Tell in an exciting role that he handles with telling effect. Mr. Lowe has been playing all season in New York in David Belasco's great success "The Son-Daughter." Critics declare him to be one of the most competent young actors of the American stage.

Donald Hall the villain of many a notable feature is also seen in one of the important roles in "A Woman's Business," bringing his careful and artistic playing to this excellent feature. Lucille Lee Stewart herself a star of several productions is still another

BEFORE AND AFTER CHILDBIRTH

Mrs. Williams Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her in Health

Overpeck, O.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me both before and after my baby was born."

"I suffered with backache, headache, was generally run down and weak. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers and decided to try it. Now I feel fine, take care of my own boys and do my own work."

I recommend your medicine to anyone who is ailing. You may publish my testimonial if you think it will help others."

Mrs. CARRIE WILLIAMS, Overpeck, Ohio.

For more than forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been restoring women to health who suffered from irregularities, displacements, backaches, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness or "the blues."

Today there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been made well by it. That is why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for such ailments.

Backaches and other external pains quickly soothed

THAT dragging, wearing backache, that so many women suffer from, is quickly eased by an application of Sloan's Liniment. No rubbing, massaging, or skin stains. It's good for all the family and has been "external" cures and pains. 50c, 75c, $1.00.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors did me only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Fuller, Carpenter, 20 J. Marcellus Avenue, Monaca, N.J. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

WITH THE OHIO CLUB WOMEN

MRS. GEO. ELLIOTT MCORMICK

National Music Week.

Youngstown, home of Mrs. Warren P. Williamson, head of the music department of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, has a genuine love for music as well as the capacity for enjoying it. No city in the United States perhaps more enthusiastically observed "National Music" week than Youngstown. Beginning with a great musical sing the celebration opened Sunday evening February 20 as the "curtain raiser" to a crowded week's program.

The mayor of Youngstown issued a proclamation asking that the week be heartily observed with the result that the chamber of commerce, music commission, theaters, clubs and schools joined in a joyous week of song. Much of the credit for Youngstown's observance of "National Music" week is due Mrs. Williamson, who, believing that the "man that hath no music in himself, nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds, is fit for treasons, stratagems, and spoils," worked almost incessantly for weeks to bring about such a celebration.

Youngstown had never seen before in its musical history. Mrs. Williamson recently has been honored with the appointment of music chairman of Ohio for the community music department of the National Council of Women of the United States. It is hoped by state federation officers that club women in planning their next year's programs will set aside "National Music" week as their part in the movement to make America a singing nation.

They're Going To Know.

Every woman ought to know about investments, more about government, state, municipal and commercial bonds, according to Mrs. Paul Frank, Crestline, chairman of the state federation thrift committee. She also thinks they should know more about "stocks, preferred and common," and "characteristics of a good investment," so she suggests that for planning a small wedge of absorbent cotton or tissue paper, between the first and second toes. This will bring the toe in line with the balance of the feet.

Mrs. A. B. Pyke, Cleveland, was the guest of honor and made an address at a banquet given by the Crestline federation this month. Miss McCrea, Mansfield, was also a guest. She extended an invitation to Crestline club women to attend the district convention to be held at Mansfield soon. Superintendent Nell, of the Crestline public schools, presented some of the needs of the schools, and one club woman could help. The Federation voted endorsement of his suggestions with regard to a Parent-Teachers association. Rev. J. A. Holdstab spoke briefly of woman's influence for good in the community.

The American Woman's club of Shanghai, China, with 200 members, has just celebrated the club's twenty-second birthday. These club women say that they are standing as an organization for all that is fine and helpful in the community life of Shanghai, and Ohio club women will be glad to know of their influence in that far land.

Mrs. J. L. Seiby, Greenville, state chairman of the loan scholarship fund, announces that the City League of Greenville has a chorus of thirty-five, with Mrs. Hermin B. B. as director. The chorus annually gives a concert, the proceeds going for some worthy cause. This year's concert was held a short time ago and the fund went to the City hospital now under course of construction. The Greenville federated clubs have secured Adah Dodd Poince, Dayton, for a series of lectures, to which all the women of the city are privileged to attend without expense.

Milady's Boudoir

Beautiful Feet.

Short skirts should make every woman look well to the beauty of her feet and see that she has a shapely foot and ankle. Exercise will do much for unshapely ankles, as will massage. Of course, if the bone of the ankle is large, nothing can be done to change it. It is, however, a simple matter to reduce flesh. This is a splendid for awkward ankles. Remove the shoes and stockings and sit down with one knee crossed over the other. Now move the foot around in a circle, using the ankle joint only. Move the feet up and down until fatigued and then change to the other foot. Another effective exercise is to stand on both feet and turn the feet from side to side at the ankles.

To improve the contour of the feet it is necessary to pay attention to any corns, callouses or enlarged joints. Be sure and wear well fitting shoes, for there must be no pressure against any part of the foot. When the outline of the foot is affected by callouses the process of removal is simple but requires time. First soak the feet well in hot water, then after they are dry, rub the callouses until the skin peels. Cut off the dead skin with the scissors carefully but be extremely careful not to cut and so injure the tender flesh underneath.

If callous places are painful apply tincture of iodine daily. This will cause the surface of the flesh to peel off and will prevent further accumulation of dead skin. It is impossible to restore an enlarged joint to its normal size, but one can improve the shape of the foot by placing a small wedge of absorbent cotton or tissue paper, between the first and second toes. This will bring the toe in line with the balance of the feet.

Everyday Etiquette

"If a bride is to have more than one bridesmaid, should she select the style and pattern of their gowns, or should the bridesmaids do this?" asked Nancy.

"The bride usually decides on the style and making of her bridesmaid's gowns. Colors and material that will be used again should be selected," said Joe Smith.

and that an equal number of rehearsals are held before the camera starts turning.

The attention to every little detail of furniture and costume is also remarkable. Every large studio has a property department and a costume department where thousands of articles are kept and indexed. Nevertheless, a heat, a compact is agreed upon in which, who ever has first, is to return to tell the great secret.

The first act furnishes all the delightful, joyous humor of Warfield. When he goes to the cellar for plum brandy and christens it plum "arrangement" upon the minister meeting him as he returns to the room with his jug;

DEDICATION SERVICES.
 Sunday at the First Methodist church the dedication of the new Men's Bible class room and gymnasium will take place at the 10 o'clock morning service. Dr. Thomas H. Campbell, superintendent of the Columbus district, will be the speaker.

The building committee of the Men's class is J. M. Phillips, W. D. Wood, Dr. J. C. Swartz, and the finishing of the new church. The cost of this improvement has been carried entirely by the Men's Bazaar class.

The present church was built about 10 years ago, under the leadership of Dr. L. C. Swartz. It is conceded to be one of the finest church buildings in this state.

Under the present pastor Rev. Ira Glosser McCormick the work has been pushed to the point where the church will celebrate its first anniversary here next Sunday week. In that time scores have united with the church, the Sunday school has increased its average attendance 200 and many other improvements have been made.

In the past night, Rev. Mr. McCormick will preach the first of a series of revival services, which will be held in April. Dr. George Hugh Himey will be evangelist preacher for the campaign.

Our Boys and Girls

A child, at as early an age as possible should be taught to care for and to feed his or her pets. This will teach them to realize that they are responsible beings, with duties as well as privileges and that only right performance of the duties will bring happiness to them and the mute creatures in their charge.

The powers of observation will be stimulated by such teaching and a bond of sympathy will be established between them and their dumb friends. Speak to them of all animals as their dumb friends. The term will cause the child to look upon them with interest and respect and they will not pain or injure them.

They hear the birds sing and watch their graceful flight and curiosity will lead them to discover a bird's nest. They find the tiny eggs and may, in some cases, destroy them, but they have been taught that the cunning round object woven so skillfully together and lined with such care, is the bird's home where, in a few weeks, the tiny birds will be here and live.

The committee which visited Columbus yesterday from Newark in the interest of securing the Child Health Clinic for Licking county, was much encouraged, following the consultation with state health department.

U. J. Barnes was chairman of the committee and accompanying him in Mr. Penberg's car were Dr. W. H. Morgan, health commissioner, Dr. C. J. Loveless of Granville, Mr. Penberg, J. M. Mitchell and W. L. Lewis. A luncheon meeting was held in Columbus with Dr. Allen Freedman, health commissioner of Ohio, Dr. Leland, chief of division of child hygiene, Dr. H. T. Thornberg of the National Child Health council, and Natahe Merrill of the child hygiene bureau of the state health department.

The committee received encouragement and felt that it had made considerable progress. The outcome of the work will be an inspection by Dr. Courtney Dinwiddie, executive secretary of the National Child Health council of Washington, and will have the final word in the naming of the location of the clinic.
